463 Communists Slain at Loc Ninh In Latest Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops tried and failed again in a massive attack today to capture Loc Ninh, a district headquarters town they first struck last Sunday. U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers, artillery and planes hurled them back.

Field dispatches said 463 Communists were killed in this fourth drive of the week on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian frontier 72 miles north of Saigon.

If confirmed, the new casualty figure would push the total enemy dead through the running battle in that sector to 832.

Spokesmen reported the allied losses through the week totaled 35 dead and 106 wounded.

In the latest battle, the allies sent the Communists reeling with firepower including six 105mm howitzers. Air Force tactical fighter-bombers, eight-engined B52 saturation bombers and twin-engine C47s armed with rapid-firing Gatling guns.

The fighter-bombers hit Communist positions with 72 strikes while the C47s fired 28,000 rounds of ammunition. B52s flew their third strike in two days on the Communist positions.

American troops suffered one dead and 11 wounded in the latest fighting. South Vietnamese casualties were put at five dead and 10 wounded. Total allied casualties reported for the five-day battle are eight American dead and 32 wounded and 23 South Vietnamese killed and 74 wounded.

Allied troops also reported capturing four prisoners of war from the Viet Cong's 273rd Regiment and 24 weapons, including three new Soviet-designed RPG7 rocket launchers and two flamethrowers.

The assault on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian border, was one of three Communist attacks up and down the countryside that also included the daring seizure of a South Vietnamese district headquarters hamlet that sits between two big American bases in the central lowlands 360 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Viet Cong burned down more than 300 homes in the assault on Dai Loc hamlet, killed seven civilians and wounded 10 before pulling out, military officers said.

During the attack, the guerrillas pinned down South Vietnamese troops at the nearby headquarters compound and U.S. Marines at two positions about six miles to the southwest with mortar attacks. Unofficial reports said nine Marines were killed and 14 wounded.

Dai Loc is between the U.S. Marine headquarters at Da Nang and the headquarters of the U. S. Army's American Division at Chu Lai, between 20 and 30 miles from each.

Over North Vietnam, north-east monsoons prevented American bombers from hitting the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland, and all 137 missions Wednesday were in the southern panhandle that stretches south of Hanoi to the demilitarized zone.

For the second day in a row, U.S. fighter-bombers attacked a Communist surface-to-air missile site north of the DMZ. A forward air controller reported that three large explosions destroyed a Russian-made SAM, a transporter and a launcher following the strike by Air Force F4 Phantoms.

The report confirmed that the North Vietnamese apparently are renewing efforts to bring down SAMs in hopes of bagging one of the giant B52 bombers that frequently raid North Vietnamese fortifications along the frontier.

APL veterinarian Dr. Robert Alexander said he was informed by Lakewood police Wednesday that a deer was caught on a beach fence in the suburb.

By the time he arrived, Dr. Alexander said, the deer had freed itself, climbed the bank and leaped off the high cliff into the lake.

Since the beach was accessible only by water, Dr. Alexander went to the Coast Guard station on Whiskey Island for help.

He returned aboard a Coast Guard launch, but the deer took off for a swim around a land-point, got back to shore, climbed to another cliff four blocks to the west and again plunged into the lake.

The second dive was less successful, and the deer landed among some rocks in the lake. Dr. Alexander and the Coast Guard crew trapped the deer among the rocks, gave him a tranquilizer, hauled him out of the rocky area and put him on the launch.

The animal is to be released after minor bruises have healed.

2 Apprehended For Theft By Sheriff

Two Circleville residents apprehended by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff for theft from an interstate shipment will be turned over to FBI agents today.

They were identified as Philip Stewart Jr., 20, 218 E. Corwin St., and William Clements, 25, Route 3, by Sheriff Radcliff. He took them into custody at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The two were picked up for possession of stolen property.

According to information given the sheriff, Stewart and Clements were assigned to unload a Roadway Express truck that was disabled east of Chillicothe in Ross County.

Two adding machines, dresses and other articles were allegedly taken from the truck. When apprehended they had in their possession an adding machine and two of the dresses according to the sheriff.

Leaping Deer Finally Corraled

CLEVELAND (AP)—A deer that made a 100-foot leap off a cliff into Lake Erie—then climbed the bank and did it again—is being cared for by the Cleveland Animal Protective League.

Florida Poisoning Probe Broadens

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — The investigation into the poisoning of seven children broadened today as authorities held an inquest in Arcadia and studied records in Jacksonville to determine how 12 of a fruit picker's 15 children died.

Sheriff Frank Cline, who jailed the children's father — 32-year-old James Richardson — on a child neglect charge Tuesday night, said Richardson had told him five of his other children by a former marriage had died in Jacksonville prior to the Arcadia deaths.

Seven of Richardson's children, ranging in age from 2 to 8, died last week after eating pork and beans that Cline said had been laced with parathion, a deadly poison sometimes used as an agricultural pesticide.

Cline and County Judge Gordon Hays said Wednesday they had enough evidence "to file murder charges against Richardson" but agreed to convene a coroner's jury at the request of State Atty. Frank Schaub.

At a news conference, Cline said Richardson was "motivated by a remuneration for life insurance." Richardson took out $1,000 double indemnity life insurance policies the night before the children were stricken, Cline said.

Cline said he did not know how the Richardson children died in Jacksonville, where Richardson lived until 1961, but had information indicating they died mysteriously. Cline said that, by Richardson's "own account, he is the father of at least 15 children, and 12 of these are now dead."

Richardson and his third wife, Annie Mae, 29, were arrested in Arcadia after they submitted to lie detector tests Tuesday.

NAPOLÉON, Ohio (AP)—The last person known to have seen a slain Sylvania secretary alive was arrested last night on a charge stemming from the wounding of a Napoleon high school girl.

Authorities said Mark Hodges, 26, of Bluffton, attendant at a service station at Beaverdam in Allen County, was picked up on a charge resulting from the wounding of Denise Fortner, 17, of Napoleon, a high school senior.

Hodges earlier was quoted as saying Karen Diane Kern, 20, pretty niece of one of Ohio's top political and labor leaders, stopped at his station for car repairs last Sunday night.

She was found shot to death Monday night in a ditch north of Bowling Green in Wood County. Authorities later confirmed that Miss Kern, niece of Ohio AFL-CIO president and State Sen. Frank W. King, made at least two telephone calls from the Shell Oil station where Hodges works.

Hodges was to be arraigned later today in Napoleon on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Henry County authorities quoted Miss Fortner as saying her motorbike was forced off a highway near Napoleon last Aug. 4 and that the male driver then stopped and shot her.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young American soldier, pronounced dead of boobytrap wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent routinely to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later—no one knows exactly how long—when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life and Bayne was rushed back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The Bayne story was published today by the Knight newspapers after research and interviews by James Batten of the Washington Bureau.

Army doctors at Walter Reed call the Bayne story "amazing" and "astounding." No doctor interviewed could recall such a case before.

An official spokesman at the hospital emphasized that the Bayne case is a medical rarity and should cause no worry to relatives of men fighting in Vietnam.

"Every effort," said the hospital spokesman, "is made to apply resuscitative measures whenever there is any hope of saving a patient."

Army doctors use a variety of tests to establish death before giving up on men wounded in combat. Only when there is no spontaneous breathing, no audible heart beat, no pulse and no activity on an electrocardiogram do doctors conclude that the patient is dead.

In the Bayne case, all these signs of death were apparent. "By all the accepted criteria he was dead," said one Army doctor.

His progress has been steady but Army doctors say that the human brain cannot be deprived of blood for more than four or five minutes without suffering damage.

"But he's really been improving quite remarkably," said an Army doctor familiar with the case.

During the four months Bayne was in Vietnam before he was wounded he wrote his mother several letters.

"He wrote, 'Please don't say I shouldn't be here. I should be here. It makes one appreciate their family and the country they live in,'" Mrs. Bayne said.

Man Slays 4 Members Of His Family, Kills Self

ABSECON, N.J. (AP) — A long series of domestic quarrels was offered today as the motive for a prosperous business executive slaying his wife and three children before taking his own life. He even killed a pet dog.

Police said Michael Belluscio, 44, apparently was tormented by repeated arguments and fights with his 40-year-old blonde wife Mamie. The couple had separated several previous times, police said.

Neighbors described Belluscio—a balding, husky 200-pounder—as a "nice, quiet guy," but said he had a short temper. Last April, police reported, he was fined $30 and given a 90-day suspended sentence for assaulting his wife.

The mass shooting occurred in the family's $40,000, 10-room colonial home Wednesday.

Belluscio, general district manager for a bottling company in nearby Atlantic City, telephoned police Chief William Taggart and said calmly: "I just killed my family, I'm going to kill myself."

Then Belluscio put down the receiver and went to his upstairs master bedroom where he shot himself in the chest with a .22-caliber rifle, which he used to wipe out his family.

Mrs. Belluscio was found on the floor in her bedroom and two daughters, Gina, 9, and Lisa, 6, also were shot in their bedrooms. Next to Gina's head was a framed poem she had written for Belluscio last Father's Day.

The two daughters were in bed covered with blankets.

A son, Anthony, 12, was found sprawled in a gold carpeted foyer, shot in the head attempting to escape the carnage. He was Mrs. Belluscio's son by a first marriage. Two other daughters by that marriage, Sheila Vasiliou, 20, and Cynthia Vasiliou, 17, live with a grandmother in Charleston, W.Va.

The couple, married 10 years, quarreled constantly over attempts to discipline Anthony, according to Mrs. Sally Georgi, a neighbor.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to suggest the President should look to his own party. With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "the Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee declined comment on the President's remarks but the House Republican whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, predicted flatly that for this year, at least, "there will be no tax bill."

And Rep. John H. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, added: "The President just hasn't got the message, namely that there will be no tax bill consideration until the administration shows some inclination to cut down spending."

At his news conference, Johnson restated his position that Congress should be doing the cutting.

"I think they will cut $4 or $5 (Continued on Page 2)

Public school teachers at Lancaster and Martins Ferry held meetings Thursday to discuss their salary disputes with school administrations.

Most of the teachers at Martins Ferry remained out of the classroom but school attendance rose slightly.

Teachers at Lancaster talked over an expected pay raise of from $300 to $350 but apparently took no action on it. George Hill, president of the Lancaster classroom teachers association, called the raise unsatisfactory.

Teachers with one degree and no experience have a starting salary at Lancaster of about $5,700.

Lancaster teachers resumed classes after the early morning meeting and indicated they would continue to honor current teaching contracts on the advice of their executive committee.

At Martins Ferry, the 87 teachers who have remained out of classes several days scheduled a morning meeting. The topic to be discussed was not disclosed in advance.

About 40 teachers are holding classes at Martins Ferry. Student attendance was near 800 today, compared with about 500 on Tuesday and 700 Wednesday. The system has about 3,100 students registered.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say a 52-year-old divorcee who was killed in her apartment on Lakewood's Gold Coast may have met her killer at a Halloween party the night before she was slain.

The body of Helen Tietjen was found by her 22-year-old daughter Nancy, late Monday in their 11th-floor suite. The woman had been beaten, stabbed, and shot.

Lakewood and county detectives have called the party Sunday "a vital missing link" in the investigation and said they would continue questioning party guests today.

"We've got a list of names of people who were at the party," Lawrence D. Moran, Cuyahoga County detective chief, said Wednesday. "We're going to talk to each one. We know Mrs. Tietjen was masked and won first place for her costume. We know the other guests were masked as well."

Police are considering the possibility that Mrs. Tietjen, who was rarely seen in public because of a disfigurement caused by surgery, may have met and angered her killer at the party.

CHICAGO (AP) — A garage on the North Side where seven gangsters were assassinated on St. Valentine's Day, 1929, soon will be razed to make way for a home for the elderly.

The brick garage was front-page news when seven of George "Bugs" Moran's men were lined up against a wall inside and cut down by machine gun fire.

The killings were laid to rivalry between Moran's and Al Capone's gangs.

Since 1949 the garage has been used by a storage company. The Chicago Housing Authority said Wednesday it will be torn down in the next 10 days and replaced by an apartment building for the elderly.

Florida Poisoning Probe Broadens

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — The investigation into the poisoning of seven children broadened today as authorities held an inquest in Arcadia and studied records in Jacksonville to determine how 12 of a fruit picker's 15 children died.

Sheriff Frank Cline, who jailed the children's father — 32-year-old James Richardson — on a child neglect charge Tuesday night, said Richardson had told him five of his other children by a former marriage had died in Jacksonville prior to the Arcadia deaths.

Seven of Richardson's children, ranging in age from 2 to 8, died last week after eating pork and beans that Cline said had been laced with parathion, a deadly poison sometimes used as an agricultural pesticide.

Cline and County Judge Gordon Hays said Wednesday they had enough evidence "to file murder charges against Richardson" but agreed to convene a coroner's jury at the request of State Atty. Frank Schaub.

At a news conference, Cline said Richardson was "motivated by a remuneration for life insurance." Richardson took out $1,000 double indemnity life insurance policies the night before the children were stricken, Cline said.

Cline said he did not know how the Richardson children died in Jacksonville, where Richardson lived until 1961, but had information indicating they died mysteriously. Cline said that, by Richardson's "own account, he is the father of at least 15 children, and 12 of these are now dead."

Richardson and his third wife, Annie Mae, 29, were arrested in Arcadia after they submitted to lie detector tests Tuesday.

Sylvania Slaying Figure Arrested

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — The last person known to have seen a slain Sylvania secretary alive was arrested last night on a charge stemming from the wounding of a Napoleon high school girl.

Authorities said Mark Hodges, 26, of Bluffton, attendant at a service station at Beaver dam in Allen County, was picked up on a charge resulting from the wounding of Denise Fortner, 17, of Napoleon, a high school senior.

Hodges earlier was quoted as saying Karen Diane Kern, 20, pretty niece of one of Ohio's top political and labor leaders, stopped at his station for car repairs last Sunday night.

She was found shot to death Monday night in a ditch north of Bowling Green in Wood County. Authorities later confirmed that Miss Kern, niece of Ohio AFL-CIO president and State Sen. Frank W. King, made at least two telephone calls from the Shell Oil station where Hodges works.

Hodges was to be arraigned later today in Napoleon on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Henry County authorities quoted Miss Fortner as saying her motorbike was forced off a highway near Napoleon last Aug. 4 and that the male driver then stopped and shot her.

The victims, Charles Swearingin, 22, and his wife, Sandra, 19, were found dead Wednesday. Authorities said fumes had leaked from a faulty flue.

Man Slays 4 Members Of His Family, Kills Self

ABSECON, N.J. (AP) — A long series of domestic quarrels was offered today as the motive for a prosperous business executive slaying his wife and three children before taking his own life. He even killed a pet dog.

Police said Michael Belluscio, 44, apparently was tormented by repeated arguments and fights with his 40-year-old blonde wife Mamie. The couple had separated several previous times, police said.

Neighbors described Belluscio—a balding, husky 200-pounder—as a "nice, quiet guy," but said he had a short temper. Last April, police reported, he was fined $30 and given a 90-day suspended sentence for assaulting his wife.

The mass shooting occurred in the family's $40,000, 10-room colonial home Wednesday. Belluscio, general district manager for a bottling company in nearby Atlantic City, telephoned police Chief William Taggart and said calmly: "I just killed my family, I'm going to kill myself."

Then Belluscio put down the receiver and went to his upstairs master bedroom where he shot himself in the chest with a .22-caliber rifle, which he used to wipe out his family.

Mrs. Belluscio was found on the floor in her bedroom and two daughters, Gina, 9, and Lisa, 6, also were shot in their bedrooms. Next to Gina's head was a framed poem she had written for Belluscio last Father's Day.

The two daughters were in bed covered with blankets. A son, Anthony, 12, was found sprawled in a gold carpeted foyer, shot in the head attempting to escape the carnage. He was Mrs. Belluscio's son by a first marriage. Two other daughters by that marriage, Sheila Vasiliou, 20, and Cynthia Vasiliou, 17, live with a grandmother in Charleston, W.Va.

The couple, married 10 years, quarreled constantly over attempts to discipline Anthony, according to Mrs. Sally Georgi, a neighbor.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to suggest the President should look to his own party. With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "the Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee declined comment on the President's remarks but the House Republican whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, predicted flatly that for this year, at least, "there will be no tax bill."

And Rep. John H. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, added: "The President just hasn't got the message, namely that there will be no tax bill consideration until the administration shows some inclination to cut down spending."

At his news conference, Johnson restated his position that Congress should be doing the cutting.

Says Congress Standing Still On Tax Boost

GOP Points Out Democrats Have The Majorities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, accusing Congress of "taking the inaction route," says its refusal to approve his proposed income tax hike already is costing Americans by feeding inflation.

At a hurriedly called news conference Wednesday in the White House Cabinet Room, Johnson touched on topics ranging from Vietnam to the stock market but time and again came back to the theme that things are not going his way in Congress.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to suggest the President should look to his own party. With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "the Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Find Man Guilty In Cincy Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury found Mark L. Brunner guilty of first-degree manslaughter Wednesday in the death of a woman who Brunner contended killed herself.

Brunner, 35, Cincinnati, was not sentenced but Judge Louis J. Schneider said he is subject to a 120 year prison term.

The state claimed that Elizabeth Floyd, 30, was killed in a lovers' quarrel that she and Brunner had last May.

Chief Temple Appointed to Training Unit

Circleville Chief of Police Robert Temple has accepted an appointment to the Training Committee of the Ohio Chiefs of Police.

In announcing his acceptance of the position, Chief Temple said his primary duty would be to represent the chiefs of police throughout the state on the Ohio Peace Officers Training Council.

Other members of the training committee are Frank Burnoski, chief of the Canton Police Department, and Milan Duris, Chief of the Bedford Department.

The trio will work closely with Harry Smith, head of training and instruction of the OPOTC.

"ONE of our main duties will be to review the training manual and procedures and to suggest changes," Temple said. "I plan to recommend that more time be devoted to liquor violations and investigations and to water safety."

A pioneer in the training of peace officers, Temple was a member of the original committee and has urged peace officer training for several years.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff is a zone coordinator for the Buckeye State Sheriff's Assn., a position similar to that held by Temple.

billion out of the appropriations that we have recommended this year," he said. "I will sign those bills they send me, although I think some of them are close ones."

Johnson also said he was "greatly distressed" at the heavy cuts Congress has made in some of the administration's programs such as model cities and rent subsidies.

"I am disappointed that the Congress has made the serious, drastic reduction it has in these already inadequate programs," he said.

Although Johnson didn't mention the plight of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the OEO announced Wednesday that because Congress hasn't acted on its appropriation 35 Community Action programs may soon have to be halted.

Johnson said the people of South Vietnam and their newly elected government are "trying to make progress and move forward" but that the hoped for changes will take time.

The United States continues to be ready at any moment to call off the bombing of North Vietnam "if they will talk promptly, productively, and not take advantage of us," the President said.

In response to a reporter's question about charges by war policy critics that he has changed his position from a statement he made in 1964, Johnson said:

"We always have said, and we repeat now, that we do not want American boys to do the fighting that South Vietnamese boys ought to do or that Asian boys ought to do.

"We are asking them all to do all they can. But that did not imply then, and does not imply now that we would not do what we needed to do to deter aggression."

Johnson again defended the right of antiwar demonstrators and critics of his policies to have their say, but added, "I don't think they have really helped our Marines a whole lot up there on the DMZ."

He suggested that each critic "engage in some introspection and ask himself whether what he is about to say is going to make a contribution to solving the problem before he speaks."

Hold 2 Youths In Weird Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two teenaged youths were charged today with being accessories in the strangulation of John W. Green 18, a University of Pennsylvania freshman whose body was found in a trunk floating in the Delaware River.

Police said the boys told a bizarre tale of disposing of young men who had been drugged at a tobacco shop. Many times, police said, the boys would take the drugged youths back to the University campus and dump them. They told police they and another boy each were paid $20 to get rid of Green's body.

Charged specifically with being accessories after the fact were James Hammell, 14, and Vincent Myers, 16, both of Philadelphia. They were arrested Wednesday night as police sought information about the disposal of Green's body.

Police said they were looking for the other boy and also for Stephen Weinstein, a tobacco shop operator believed one of the last persons who saw Green alive.

Green's body was found Tuesday in a steamer trunk in the river. The 13-year-old Des Moines, Iowa freshman was last seen at his dormitory Oct. 22, when he told roommates he was going to buy a pipe.

Detectives also said Wednesday an autopsy showed Green was given knockout drops and was abused sexually before he was strangled.

Claim Police Muffed Chance

Had Complaint On Robert Batch

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police Chief Richard Wagner says he will make an investigation to determine if a Cleveland policeman muffed a chance to prevent the ordeal that marred the honeymoon of Charles and Lida Caldwell.

Caldwell, 18, was shot in the face by Robert Batch, who was waiting at the couple's honeymoon suite when they returned Saturday from their wedding in Detroit.

Batch, 23, then took the 19-year-old bride to his apartment in suburban University Heights and held her captive until Monday afternoon when he shot her in the chest and then killed himself with a bullet in the heart.

Wagner promised the investigation after Mrs. Paul D. Chilton claimed that police ignored a complaint she made Friday about Batch, which she said "quite possibly could have prevented the tragedy."

Mrs. Chilton lives in the building where Caldwell lived with his mother and two brothers.

She said she saw Batch lingering around the apartment house Thursday evening and most of Friday, "acting nervous and strange as he sat there in his car."

She said she called police Friday afternoon, but they never came around to check on the complaint.

Shots Are Fired At Candidate

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four rapidly fired shots missed U.S. Rep. John Rarick, D-La., candidate for governor in Saturday's Democratic primary, today.

Police began a search for three, possibly four men, in a black compact car from which the shots were fired.

Rarick had been at a television station WWL-TV preparing a message for use in the final days of the campaign.

The shots were fired as the 43-year-old congressman, his wife, and Executive Assistant Neal Edwards returned to their hotel in the French quarter and left their car in the garage.

Edwards said that when the first shot was heard, the group either fell down or ran between cars parked in the garage. No one was injured. One shot chipped part of the garage.

The congressman, a native of Goshen, Ind., is one of four candidates running against Gov. John McKeithen.

Rule Out Drugs In Teen Deaths

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said Wednesday that tests showed neither drugs nor liquor played a part in the deaths of four teen-agers found asphyxiated in a car on the East Side Sunday.

Police said one of the victims, Henry Pugh, 19, had told his mother Saturday the group planned to use marijuana.

The other victims were Betty Ann Gagliardo, 18; her sister, Charla, 16, and Bruce Schiavoni, 18.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — "All men who have dealt with Russia," wrote Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in 1945, "know of the Russian attempt to chisel, by bluff, pressure and other unscrupulous methods to get what they wish."

Harriman's remarks, advising the United States to stand firm against Soviet expansionist ambitions in Eastern Europe, were made during the U.N. charter conference while he was ambassador to Moscow. They were published this week by the State Department in a 1,611 page collection of formerly secret documents.

The documents reveal the cross-currents within the U.S. government on the forming of the U.N. and also the government's difficulties with the Russians, the French and others.

WASHINGTON (AP) — All new American cars sold after Jan. 1 must bear prominent labels or tags saying they conform with national safety standards set up by the Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966.

This word has been given to automobile manufacturers by Lowell K. Bridwell, federal highway administrator. He told the manufacturers to inform his office of how they intend to comply with the order before the Jan. 1 deadline.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in 93 years, the nation's capital is going to have the form of government employed in most of the other cities of the country—a mayor and a city council.

The last obstacle to the change was hurdled Wednesday when the Senate confirmed President Johnson's nine nominees to the Washington City Council.

Earlier, the President tapped Walter Washington to be the capital city's mayor or commissioner, replacing a three-commissioner system that was instituted in 1874.

B52 Crashes At Rome, N.Y.

ROME, N.Y. (AP) — An Air Force B52 jet bomber carrying eight persons crashed and burned today in a wooded area near here, and State Police said at least three were believed dead.

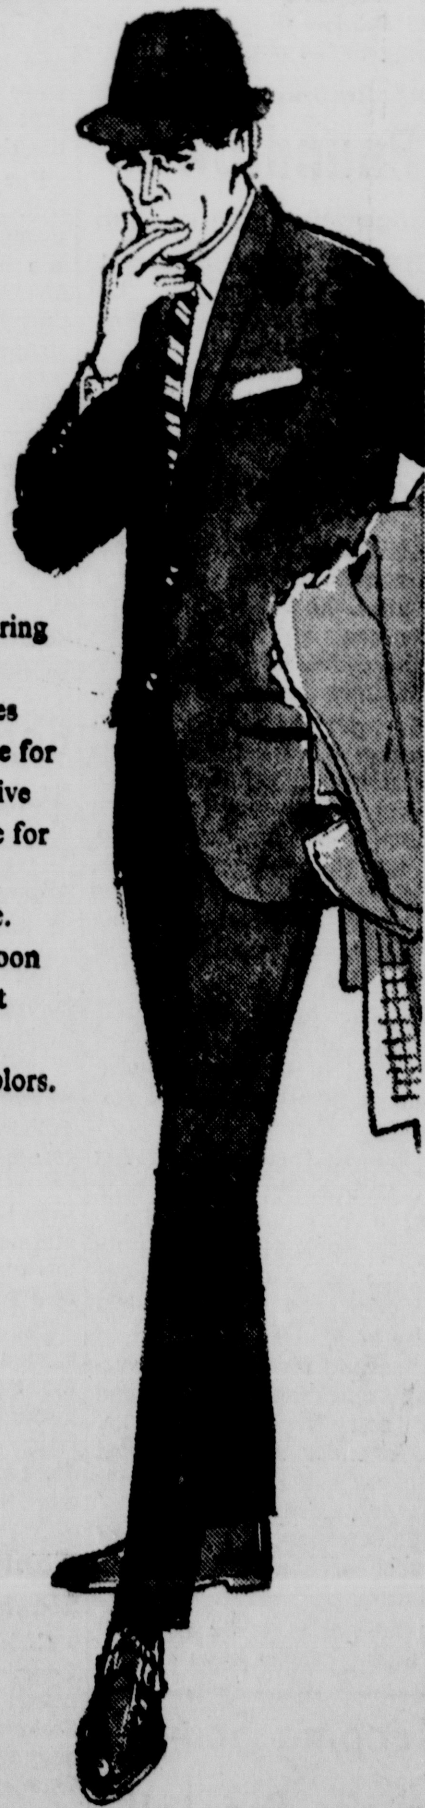

A spokesman for Griffiss Air Force Base here, who said eight were aboard, reported that the eight-engined jet, a Stratofortress assigned to Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, had been attempting a crash landing at Griffiss. Its engines had failed, the spokesman said.

A crew member who survived told police that no nuclear weapons were aboard.

The plane was reported to have barely missed a trailer park.

The crash occurred about four miles northeast of Griffiss.

Find Man Guilty In Cincy Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury found Mark L. Brunner guilty of first-degree manslaughter Wednesday in the death of a woman who Brunner contended killed herself.

Brunner, 35, Cincinnati, was not sentenced but Judge Louis J. Schneider said he is subject to a 120 year prison term. The state claimed that Elizabeth Floyd, 30, was killed in a lovers' quarrel that she and Brunner had last May.

Chief Temple Appointed to Training Unit

Circleville Chief of Police Robert Temple has accepted an appointment to the Training Committee of the Ohio Chiefs of Police.

In announcing his acceptance of the position, Chief Temple said his primary duty would be to represent the chiefs of police throughout the state on the Ohio Peace Officers Training Council.

Other members of the training committee are Frank Burnoski, chief of the Canton Police Department, and Milan Duris, Chief of the Bedford Police Department.

The trio will work closely with Harry Smith, head of training and instruction of the OPOPC.

"ONE of our main duties will be to review the training manual and procedures and to suggest changes," Temple said.

"I plan to recommend that more time be devoted to liquor violations and investigations and to water safety."

A pioneer in the training of peace officers, Temple was a member of the original committee and has urged peace officer training for several years.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff is a zone coordinator for the Buckeye State Sheriff's Assn., a position similar to that held by Temple.

Says Congress

(Continued from Page 1) billion out of the appropriations that we have recommended this year," he said. "I will sign those bills they send me, although I think some of them are close ones."

Johnson also said he was "greatly distressed" at the heavy cuts Congress has made in some of the administration's programs such as model cities and rent subsidies.

"I am disappointed that the Congress has made the serious, drastic reduction it has in these already inadequate programs," he said.

Although Johnson didn't mention the plight of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the OEO announced Wednesday that because Congress hasn't acted on its appropriation 35 Community Action programs may soon have to be halted.

Johnson said the people of South Vietnam and their newly elected government are "trying to make progress and move forward" but that the hoped for changes will take time.

The United States continues to be ready at any moment to call off the bombing of North Vietnam "if they will talk promptly, productively, and not take advantage of us," the President said.

In response to a reporter's question about charges by war policy critics that he has changed his position from a statement he made in 1964, Johnson said:

"We always have said, and we repeat now, that we do not want American boys to do the fighting that South Vietnamese boys ought to do or that Asian boys ought to do."

"We are asking them all to do all they can. But that did not imply then, and does not imply now that we would not do what we needed to do to deter aggression."

Johnson again defended the right of antiwar demonstrators and critics of his policies to have their say, but added, "I don't think they have really helped our Marines a whole lot up there on the DMZ."

He suggested that each critic "engage in some introspection and ask himself whether what he is about to say is going to make a contribution to solving the problem before he speaks."

Hold 2 Youths In Weird Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two teenaged youths were charged today with being accessories in the strangulation of John W. Green 18, a University of Pennsylvania freshman whose body was found in a trunk floating in the Delaware River.

Police said the boys told a bizarre tale of disposing of young men who had been drugged at a tobacco shop. Many times, police said, the boys would take the drugged youths back to the University campus and dump them. They told police they and another boy each were paid $20 to get rid of Green's body.

Charged specifically with being accessories after the fact were James Hammell, 14, and Vincent Myers, 16, both of Philadelphia. They were arrested Wednesday night as police sought information about the disposal of Green's body.

Police said they were looking for the other boy and also for Stephen Weinstein, a tobacco shop operator believed one of the last persons who saw Green alive.

Green's body was found Tuesday in a steamer trunk in the river. The 18-year-old Des Moines, Iowa freshman was last seen at his dormitory Oct. 22, when he told roommates he was going to buy a pipe.

Detectives also said Wednesday an autopsy showed Green was given knockout drops and was abused sexually before he was strangled.

The autopsy by the Medical Examiner's office also revealed head and neck bruises and teeth marks on the body.

Earlier, police said Green may have been slipped the sleeping potion in mustard used on a hamburger. Detectives said five students at the University reported they had been administered sleeping drugs in unusual circumstances in the area where Green was believed to have been the day he vanished.

Juvenile Cases Heard By Court

Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline handed down judgements Wednesday on five cases involving local youths.

Darrel Arnett, Route 1, Williamsport, was found guilty of acting in a manner contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old girl.

Arnett took the girl to Florida with him without the consent of her parents, and then refused to return her.

He was sentenced to six months in jail, $500 fine, five years on probation, and ordered to render 100 hours of community work.

Two Ashville girls, ages 8 and 13, were found guilty of stealing merchandise valued at $4 from the Ashville grocery and a pharmacy.

The two children were wards of the court and placed on probation for three years.

Thomas E. Conkel, 17, 302 Lancaster Pike, pleaded guilty to speeding 65 miles in a 50 mile zone. He was fined $25, his license was suspended and he was ordered to attend traffic school. The fine was suspended.

A local girl was made a ward of the court, and then, with the consent of her parents, was given permission to marry a Fayette County boy, as she was found to be approaching maturity.

Claim Police Muffed Chance

Had Complaint
On Robert Batch

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police Chief Richard Wagner says he will make an investigation to determine if a Cleveland policeman muffed a chance to prevent the ordeal that marred the honeymoon of Charles and Lida Caldwell.

Caldwell, 18, was shot in the face by Robert Batch, who was waiting at the couple's honeymoon suite when they returned Saturday from their wedding in Detroit.

Batch, 23, then took the 19-year-old bride to his apartment in suburban University Heights and held her captive until Monday afternoon when he shot her in the chest and then killed himself with a bullet in the heart.

Wagner promised the investigation after Mrs. Paul D. Chilton claimed that police ignored a complaint she made Friday about Batch, which she said "quite possibly could have prevented the tragedy."

Mrs. Chilton lives in the building where Caldwell lived with his mother and two brothers.

She said she saw Batch lingering around the apartment house Thursday evening and most of Friday, "acting nervous and strange as he sat there in his car."

She said she called police Friday afternoon, but they never came around to check on the complaint.

Shots Are Fired At Candidate

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four rapidly fired shots missed U.S. Rep. John Rarick, D-La., candidate for governor in Saturday's Democratic primary, today.

Police began a search for three, possibly four men, in a black compact car from which the shots were fired.

Rarick had been at a television station WWL-TV preparing a message for use in the final days of the campaign.

The shots were fired as the 43-year-old congressman, his wife, and Executive Assistant Neal Edwards returned to their hotel in the French quarter and left their car in the garage.

Edwards said that when the first shot was heard, the group either fell down or ran between cars parked in the garage. No one was injured. One shot chipped part of the garage.

The congressman, a native of Goshen, Ind., is one of four candidates running against Gov. John McKeithen.

Rule Out Drugs In Teen Deaths

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said Wednesday that tests showed neither drugs nor liquor played a part in the deaths of four teen-agers found asphyxiated in a car on the East Side Sunday.

Police said one of the victims, Henry Pugh, 19, had told his mother Saturday the group planned to use marijuana.

The other victims were Betty Ann Gagliardo, 18; her sister, Charla, 16, and Bruce Schiavoni, 18.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—"All men who have dealt with Russia," wrote Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in 1945, "know of the Russian attempt to chisel, by bluff, pressure and other unscrupulous methods to get what they wish."

Harriman's remarks, advising the United States to stand firm against Soviet expansionist ambitions in Eastern Europe, were made during the U.N. charter conference while he was ambassador to Moscow. They were published this week by the State Department in a 1,611 page collection of formerly secret documents.

The documents reveal the cross-currents within the U.S. government on the forming of the U.N. and also the government's difficulties with the Russians, the French and others.

WASHINGTON (AP)—All new American cars sold after Jan. 1 must bear prominent labels or tags saying they conform with national safety standards set up by the Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966.

This word has been given to automobile manufacturers by Lowell K. Bridwell, federal highway administrator. He told the manufacturers to inform his office of how they intend to comply with the order before the Jan. 1 deadline.

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in 93 years, the nation's capital is going to have the form of government employed in most of the other cities of the country—a mayor and a city council.

The last obstacle to the change was hurdled Wednesday when the Senate confirmed President Johnson's nine nominees to the Washington City Council.

Earlier, the President tapped Walter Washington to be the capital city's mayor or commissioner, replacing a three-commissioner system that was instituted in 1874.

The United States earned nearly $900 million last year from its sales of oil and gas leases on public lands, the Interior Department has announced.

The State Department has promised to consult with Congress if it is requested to evacuate white mercenaries and their Kantangese troops from the Congo. The sending of transport planes to the Congo last July brought congressional criticism.

The average maturity of the federal debt dropped to its lowest level in seven years, an average of four years and four months at the end of September, the Treasury Department has reported.

B52 Crashes At Rome, N.Y.

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—An Air Force B52 jet bomber carrying eight persons crashed and burned today in a wooded area near here, and State Police said at least three were believed dead.

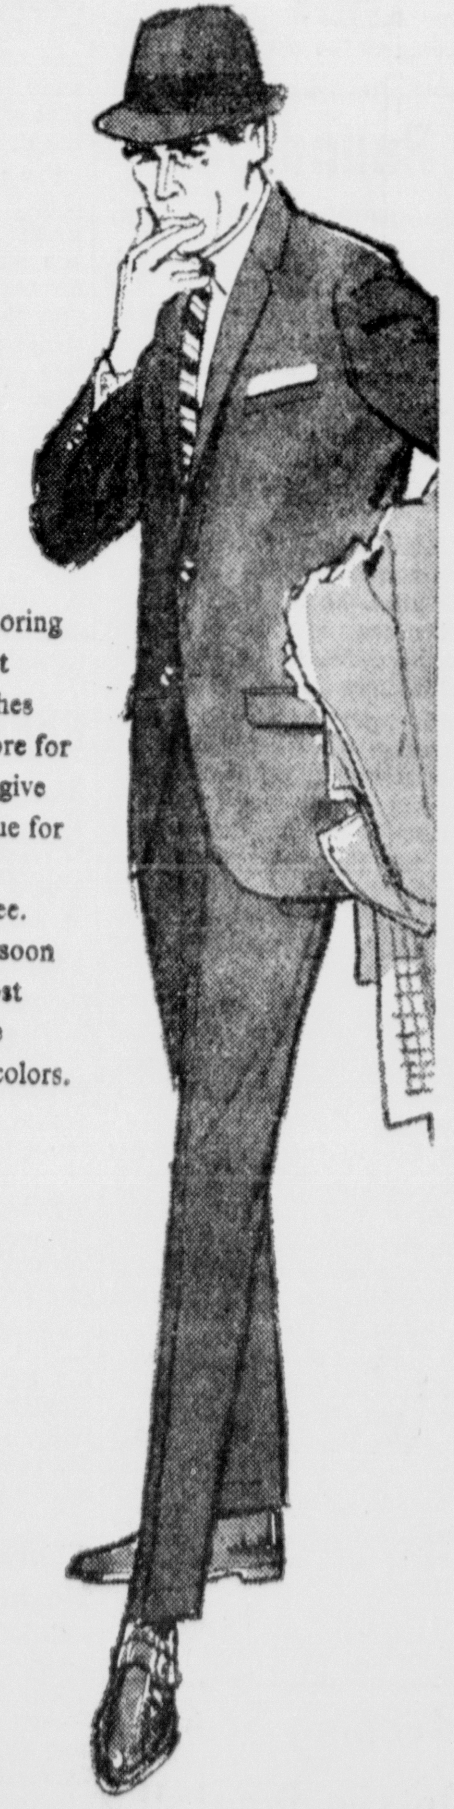

A spokesman for Griffiss Air Force Base here, who said eight were aboard, reported that the eight-engined jet, a Stratofortress assigned to Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, had been attempting a crash landing at Griffiss. Its engines had failed, the spokesman said.

A crew member who survived told police that no nuclear weapons were aboard.

The plane was reported to have barely missed a trailer park.

The crash occurred about four miles northeast of Griffiss.

War Irritations

One of the problems for Americans in the Vietnam War which becomes more serious with time might be defined simply as being there. No country has ever enjoyed occupation by foreign troops for an extended period, whether friend or foe. Vietnam is no exception.

That the climate of association between Vietnamese and Americans has not deteriorated more than it has is remarkable remembering that more than 500,000 U. S. nationals are in a country with a population of only 17 million. The U. S. government has exerted a tremendous influence in the country, while trying to be as least disruptive as possible.

By employing 130,000 Vietnamese civilians to serve the needs of its forces there, the U. S. has become the country's second largest employer. Only the Saigon government employs more persons. In relation to the population, this is equivalent to more than 1.5 million persons in the United States on the payroll of a single employer.

Perhaps a still larger source of friction is the affluency of American servicemen by comparison to local standards. An Army private is a rich man in Vietnam, able to afford many things the average Vietnamese can only dream of.

Shopkeepers, taxi drivers and other businessmen cater to the American soldier while ignoring their fellow countrymen.

These are some of the frictions of an occupation army. No matter how much caution is exercised by U. S. commanders on the scene, even to the point of withdrawing troops from population centers such as Saigon, the buildup of enmity by the Vietnamese people toward the foreigners in their midst is likely to continue.

Another complication of the problem is the ancient suspicion and prejudice of oriental peoples for westerners. The Viet Cong have no such handicap.

In Vietnam, the mutual unpleasantness of the situation — both for the Vietnamese and Americans — is one more factor working against an indefinitely prolonged war.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is that period of life when—

The faces in your high school yearbook begin to look hauntingly unfamiliar—including your own.

You no longer open an envelope with the idea that it might possibly contain something for nothing.

It isn't as easy as it used to be to beat a nimble-footed old lady to an empty taxicab.

If you casually encounter someone you used to know, you tell him how well he looks and congratulate yourself secretly because you haven't aged so much as he.

You never buy anything without first inspecting its price tag in the hope that it has been reduced.

The mail brings more and more invitations to do things you don't want to do and to go places where you don't want to be.

You have pretty well figured out whom you would lend money to in an emergency—and how much.

Your hairline isn't receding so much as your forehead is getting nobler looking.

It is easier to wear something that doesn't quite fit you than it is to go through the bother of taking it back to the store and having it exchanged.

Anything that leaves you feeling too darned tired is hardly worth doing.

There are a lot more people who say "sir" to you than holler, "Hi!" You are slowly becoming accustomed to this difference in greeting.

The tougher the sport being played, the more you enjoy being an innocent spectator.

Although you sense a slight slowdown in your physical prowess, morally you are getting so much stronger that about half the time you can whip temptation with one arm tied behind you. Sin has acquired a resistible personality.

Every cocktail party you attend reminds you of at least three others you can remember at which you made a fool of yourself.

You have a wistful desire to gossip about other people less and help them more.

When you go to church, you find yourself nodding in agreement with the preacher before he has even reached the verb in the sentence he is saying. After all, you know there's a lot of truth in what he has in mind.

No longer do you retain youth's careless way of taking nature for granted. Each tree and bird and flower assumes its own individuality, and you are at least dimly thankful that each is there.

Yep, that's middle age. Middle age is what you make it—and what it makes of you.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How do the symptoms of Asian flu differ from an ordinary cold or the gripe.

All three are caused by one of many different types of viruses. Some strains of virus are relatively mild and do not lead to serious complications. Other strains are more virulent and cause severe toxic reactions in the body.

The symptoms are almost identical and can hardly be distinguished except for their severity and duration. Fever may range from 100 degrees F. to 105 degrees F.

With it is a general feeling of malaise, weakness and aches of the bones, muscles and joints throughout the body. Headache, especially in the front and top of the head, is common.

A thick discharge from the nose may later be followed by a severe hacking cough. In the serious phase of influenza there is a productive cough with large quantities of discolored sputum.

As I have said, all of these symptoms may be identified with an ordinary cold and can only be differentiated by the clinical judgment of a physician.

This is an excellent time to point out that a rather severe epidemic of Asian flu is expected in the northern, cold parts of the United States. It is imperative, therefore that everyone be vaccinated against the influenza virus.

Fortunately, we now have very effective vaccines against many of the types of influenza virus. Our experience has been most gratifying when the elderly, especially, are vaccinated against this disease. Your own physician is, of course, the best judge as to when the vaccination should be given and what precautions should be taken against the infection.

Asian flu, the gripe and the common cold are infectious diseases almost always spread from one person to another by coughing and sneezing.

Digestion suffers if meals are eaten with household tensions.

Sure glad to hear Hurricane Heidi swooped out to sea without getting tough in this hemisphere. We just knew any storm named after that delightful little fictional girl "Heidi" couldn't be all bad!

Though all four candidates in a Bountiful, Utah, city council election were unopposed, the election was held anyway. Good practice for the voters?

On reading that a fashioneer predicts the possible return of the hour-glass figure in women's styles, Grandpappy Jenkins declares that it's certainly about time!

Berkeley, Calif., police reported looking for the joker who stuck nine marijuana plants among the flowers in a college chancellor's front yard. Looks like the cops have quite a job of weeding out to do.

Regardless of its species, any migratory bird that arrives in the Caribbean area just in time to run into a hurricane must feel a perfect goose.

Commercially grown orchids require five or more years to grow from seed — Factographs. Long-term investment — but the results are pretty nice.

The so-called "melancholy days" are truly here, says the man at the next desk, for the fellow who has just discovered he needs new overalls and overcoat, and that his furnace needs a complete — and expensive — overhaul.

WASHINGTON (AP) — That loud noise in the Senate is from the barn door that slammed when the horse trotted away.

In this case the barn door was the overwhelming approval given the President—in the Tonkin Gulf resolution of 1964—to use whatever force he thought necessary to stop Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. The vote was 88 to 2.

The horse that got loose is the war in Vietnam. Now a horde of senators are unhappy about this dragged-out war which they authorized if President Johnson thought it necessary.

They could have had no doubt in 1964 that the resolution might lead the United States into war. That it could do just that was made clear to them by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the man who captained the measure through to approval.

He told them it could happen before they voted. But Fulbright, who has been all over the lot on how much power a president should have in foreign affairs, is now for curbing the president.

The Constitution has never given a president a completely free hand in the foreign field. But about the only restriction it puts on him is this: Any treaty he makes with a foreign power must be approved by two-thirds of the Senate.

Dealing with the Senate this way was often painful. To make life easier for themselves presidents eventually began making executive agreements with other countries. They had the effect of treaties but didn't need a two-thirds Senate vote.

But when it came to using U.S. forces overseas for one reason or another, residents of often got congressional approval. Often they didn't. The armed forces have been used 137 times without a formal declaration of war and in most cases without any say by Congress.

Johnson didn't ask Congress for an okay when he sent troops into the Dominican Republic's revolution in 1965 but he did get congressional approval, through the Tonkin resolution, before using troops in Vietnam.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed his own resolution which he wants it to approve. This one would say a "national commitment" to another country by a president must be approved by Congress as a treaty or in some other declaration.

But, as noted, Johnson asked precisely for such approval before the Vietnam war began. Yet, what is a "national commitment"? Those words are made of rubber. They could be used to apply to almost anything a president might undertake with a foreign power.

As the war began to seem bogged down, Fulbright and others who had approved the Tonkin resolution became uneasy and critical of Johnson. One of the most memorable complaints came from Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

Case, who voted for the Tonkin resolution, said Johnson had misused it because he "had taken advantage of the restraint and responsibility of Congress." He called this "highly irresponsible" on Johnson's part.

But from what he said next it wouldn't seem Congress showed much responsibility. Just the contrary. Case said "our consent to so sweeping a grant of power was not only a mistake but a failure of responsibility on the part of Congress."

This could be interpreted as meaning a self-conscious bunch of senators, ill at ease now for not paying attention to what they were doing, are blaming Johnson for it.

Some members of Fulbright's committee want to water down his resolution, saying no more than perhaps something like this: That a president must get congressional approval before he uses U.S. troops overseas, although again this is what Johnson did.

Whatever resolution the Senate approves, it will be no more than an expression of how the Senate would like the president to act. It doesn't have the effect of law and any president could ignore it.

One way the Senate could really put the screws on Johnson would be to rescind the Tonkin resolution approved three years ago. But even Fulbright isn't suggesting that and, if he did, it would probably get no place.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — After all these years of taking her boss' dictation and typing his letters, the secretary's chief problem with the executive seems to be one of communication.

"They don't achieve understanding of how each can help the other," said Dr. Donald Roark, vice president of a chemical company and dean of the Institute for Certifying Secretaries. "They need a spirit of cooperation."

Roark's institute is attempting to do for secretaries what a similar institute has done for accountants, that is, establish professional goals and standards that must be tested in an examination. So far, 3,901 secretaries have qualified.

If communication were improved, Roark feels, the executive would get a lot more production, the secretary a lot more satisfaction and perhaps higher pay from her job, and the firm frequently benefit also.

"Most of us in management don't know how a secretary can be used," Roark said in an interview. Most executives, he indicated, give their secretaries routine tasks based on manual skills such as shorthand and typing.

To do this is to downgrade a secretary's skills to those of simple manual dexterity, Roark believes, which is the same thing as saying an engineer is a man who works with his hands. Secretaries have brains, ambition and various other assets that can be used.

"I believe the secretarial profession is in a period of transition from manual skills to an emphasis on mental skills," Roark said. "A secretary should be the extension of the executive for whom she works."

As such, he said, one of her principal functions is to handle the office in the absence of the executive, to compose some of his letters without being dictated to, to give instructions to employees, to make travel arrangements.

If this is the case, the role of the professional secretary would seem to be approaching that of the executive himself. This produces the distinct possibility that more men will enter secretarial ranks. Eight already have become CPS's.

The CPS examination, which is given each year on the first Friday and Saturday in May by the National Secretaries Association, based in Kansas City, is no snap.

The first section of 125 minutes tests the secretary's personal adjustment and human relations, her ability to deal with typical situations involving superiors, colleagues and subordinates.

Following that comes 60 minutes of business law, 105 minutes of business administration, 2½ hours of accounting and tax problems, more than 2 hours of dictation and transcription and finally 75 minutes of secretarial procedures.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In films, locales are seldom what they seem. In television's "Peyton Place" series, the town square is actually an open area between 20th Century-Fox studio's cafe, two sound stages, a fire house and a building of dressing rooms.

But now the studio is outdoing itself. Jackhammers clatter and carpenters' saws whine as 20th announces it is constructing "the largest set ever built."

It will cost more than $2 million and stretch across the lot nearly half a mile between two Los Angeles thoroughfares — Pico and Olympic Boulevard.

The set, representing New York City of 1890, is for "Hello, Dolly," which will star Barbara Streisand and Walter Matthau. And, says John De Cuir, it also represents "nothing but problems."

"By ordinance you can't hang anything from existing buildings," said De Cuir, pronounced De Cure, a veteran production designer who's in charge of the project.

"That means we have to install 110-foot poles, which have to go 15 feet into the ground, where we run into conduits and water pipes."

De Cuir, an Oscar winner for his "Cleopatra" sets in Rome, where he also reproduced the Sistine Chapel for "The Agony and the Ecstasy," pointed to a wallful of his sketches:

"Next to the studio property building will be Fifth Avenue and the Hoffman House, a hotel-restaurant, which had the longest bar in the world and was where Boss Tweed hung out."

"Stage 14 will become the exterior of a tenement, and next to the administration building we'll build a clubhouse of steel, glass and Victorian flavor."

Other features of the set will include Barnum's Museum, Central Park, Madison Square Park, Herald Square, the Battery, Broadway, Grand Central Station and a quarter-mile of elevated railway.

The movie's Yonkers scenes will be filmed in the similar-looking old town of Garrison, N.Y., which the studio is refurbishing at a cost of about $500,000.

Tax 'Loopholes' Necessity

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Every time a tax increase is proposed, a familiar cry goes up: "Get it out of the oil millionaires."

But why oil, specifically? The oil industry happens to be a shining mark simply because it is visible at all the gas stations in the country that would grind to a standstill in twenty-four hours without the automobile. The fact is, however, that the "depletion allowance which permits the petroleum companies to take the 27.5 per cent deduction in order to pay for new exploration designed to replenish diminishing capital resources, applies to more than a hundred other types of minerals that are basic to the economy.

Minnesota depends on a depletion allowance for iron ore, Florida for its phosphates, Missouri for lead, Tennessee for zinc, and most of the Appalachian states for coal. Forty years ago they worked out the depletion rates that were deemed necessary at the time to keep the so-called extractive industries attractive to investment money. It was figured out that lead, uranium, and zinc needed a 23 per cent depletion allowance to keep going. Iron, silver and gold were placed at 15 per cent; coal at ten per cent; and sand and gravel — the lowliest grouping — at five per cent.

The reason for the rate differences between oil, silver, and coal have been lost in the mists of time. But one thing remains certain: general taxation has taken on a galloping escalation since forty years ago, and it has always been this column's connection that the so-called "loopholes" for the extractive industries are absolutely necessary if the capitalist system is to continue functioning. The economy, in the last analysis, depends on the raw materials that are fed into it, and who would bother investing money in an oil well, a silver mine or a phosphate rock development if he knew that his capital were destined for extinction once the well or mine had run out?

To slash the depletion allowance that is granted to industries whose capital consists of scarce natural wealth in the ground would be equivalent to taxing a farmer's seed corn, or cutting a haunch out of a stockman's breeding bull, or depriving a manufacturing company of the right to depreciate its machinery over the period of its useful life. You are permitted to depreciate a machine tool in order to conserve the capital investment that has gone into it. So why is it illogical to apply the same sort of thinking to an oil well, a titanium deposit, or an iron mine?

The most authoritative Congressman on the subject of the depletion allowance happens to be a Florida Representative, A. S. Herlong, Jr. Oil is not a conspicuous part of the Florida economy. But phosphate rock, just a legitimate Florida concern, is a New York State concern. The illusion persists that the existence of the depletion allowance somehow derives from the superior arm-twisting abilities of Texas and Louisiana statesmen. But when you consider that bauxite, cobalt, graphite, manganese, sulphur, tin, vanadium, uranium, nickel and zircon, among many other minerals, get depletion allowances at a 23 per cent rate, and borax, clay, copper, gold, granite, limestone, marble, molybdenum, and even mollusk shells weigh in at fifteen per cent it is hardly likely that a majority vote in the U. S. Senate could ever be obtained for closing the so-called loopholes that make prospecting and drilling for new mineral sources worth a person's while.

One of the arguments recently raised in behalf of the oil depletion allowance was that it had enabled the U. S. to uncover sufficient domestic and offshore tidal land oil reserves to get us off the hook of dependence on the Arab world of the Middle East. The argument is a good one, even though it may appeal more to the Pentagon than to the Federal Treasury. Lest the latter line up behind those who want to sock the "oil millionaires," however, the fact that offshore leases feed depletion money back into federal hands is a tax factor which should be considered. A new well, like a new electronics plant, is another cost that can be milked for taxes. So let's have less noise and more light when the old cry to "close the loopholes" goes up. The loopholes, to scramble the image, may be the nation's lifelines.

Dear Sir:

We would like to express our deep appreciation to the many people who were so very kind to us and to Rhonda during and since her stay at Children's Hospital following her accident on September 6th.

We would especially like to thank the people at General Electric who were so very thoughtful at that time. Also special thanks to the people who donated blood in Rhonda's name.

There were so many people who came to our assistance—relatives, friends, and complete strangers. It is gratifying to know that everyone is willing to help you in a time of need.

We would also like to thank all those people who prayed for Rhonda and for us at that time. It helped us tremendously to know that someone else cared and was praying for her.

Rhonda is at home now and her condition is satisfactory. She would also like to express her thanks for the many cards and gifts she has received. She thoroughly enjoyed them all.

War Irritations

One of the problems for Americans in the Vietnam War which becomes more serious with time might be defined simply as being there. No country has ever enjoyed occupation by foreign troops for an extended period, whether friend or foe. Vietnam is no exception.

That the climate of association between Vietnamese and Americans has not deteriorated more than it has is remarkable remembering that more than 500,000 U. S. nationals are in a country with a population of only 17 million. The U. S. government has exerted a tremendous influence in the country, while trying to be as least disruptive as possible.

By employing 130,000 Vietnamese civilians to serve the needs of its forces there, the U. S. has become the country's second largest employer. Only the Saigon government employs more persons. In relation to the population, this is equivalent to more than 1.5 million persons in the United States on the payroll of a single employer.

Perhaps a still larger source of friction is the affluency of American servicemen by comparison to local standards. An Army private is a rich man in Vietnam, able to afford many things the average Vietnamese can only dream of.

Shopkeepers, taxi drivers and other businessmen cater to the American soldier while ignoring their fellow countrymen.

These are some of the frictions of an occupation army. No matter how much caution is exercised by U. S. commanders on the scene, even to the point of withdrawing troops from population centers such as Saigon, the buildup of enmity by the Vietnamese people toward the foreigners in their midst is likely to continue.

Another complication of the problem is the ancient suspicion and prejudice of oriental peoples for westerners. The Viet Cong have no such handicap.

In Vietnam, the mutual unpleasantness of the situation — both for the Vietnamese and Americans — is one more factor working against an indefinitely prolonged war.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How do the symptoms of Asian flu differ from an ordinary cold or the gripe.

All three are caused by one of many different types of viruses. Some strains of virus are relatively mild and do not lead to serious complications. Other strains are more virulent and cause severe toxic reactions in the body.

The symptoms are almost identical and can hardly be distinguished except for their severity and duration. Fever may range from 100 degrees F. to 105 degrees F.

With it is a general feeling of malaise, weakness and aches in the bones, muscles and joints throughout the body. Headache, especially in the front and top of the head, is common.

A thick discharge from the nose may later be followed by a severe hacking cough. In the serious phase of influenza there is a productive cough with large quantities of discolored sputum.

As I have said, all of these symptoms may be identified with an ordinary cold and can only be differentiated by the clinical judgment of a physician.

This is an excellent time to point out that a rather severe epidemic of Asian flu is expected in the northern, cold parts of the United States. It is imperative, therefore, that everyone be vaccinated against the influenza virus.

Fortunately, we now have very effective vaccines against many of the types of influenza virus. Our experience has been most gratifying when the elderly, especially, are vaccinated against this disease. Your own physician is, of course, the best judge as to when the vaccination should be given and what precautions should be taken against the infection.

Asian flu, the gripe and the common cold are infectious diseases almost always spread from one person to another by coughing and sneezing.

But now the studio is outdoing itself. Jackhammers clatter and carpenters' saws whine as 20th announces it is constructing "the largest set ever built."

It will cost more than $2 million and stretch across the lot nearly half a mile between two Los Angeles thoroughfares — Pico and Olympic Boulevards.

The set, representing New York City of 1890, is for "Hello, Dolly," which will star Barbara Streisand and Walter Matthau. And, says John De Cuir, it also represents "nothing but problems."

"By ordinance you can't hang anything from existing buildings," said De Cuir, pronounced De Cure, a veteran production designer who's in charge of the project.

"That means we have to install 110-foot poles, which have to go 15 feet into the ground, where we run into conduits and water pipes."

De Cuir, an Oscar winner for his "Cleopatra" sets in Rome, where he also reproduced the Sistine Chapel for "The Agony and the Ecstasy," pointed to a wallful of his sketches:

"Next to the studio property building will be Fifth Avenue and the Hoffman House, a hotel-restaurant, which had the longest bar in the world and was where Boss Tweed hung out.

"Stage 14 will become the exterior of a tenement, and next to the administration building we'll build a clubhouse of steel, glass and Victorian flavor."

Other features of the set will include Barnum's Museum, Central Park, Madison Square Park, Herald Square, the Battery, Broadway, Grand Central Station and a quarter-mile of elevated railway.

The movie's Yonkers scenes will be filmed in the similar-looking old town of Garrison, N.Y., which the studio is refurbishing at a cost of about $500,000.

Nuptial Vows Repeated In Laurelville Church

MRS. MAX LEE YOUNG

The Rev. John Glick read the double ring service uniting in marriage Miss Beverly Kay Lehman and Max Lee Young, the afternoon of Oct. 1, in the Laurelville Methodist Church.

The altar was decorated with gold vases of white mums with emerald and huckleberry foliage, cathedral tapers in gold holders, palm trees and silver candelabra garlanded with foliage. The aisles were marked with white ribbons and greenery.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Robert West, organist, and Mrs. Francis Harmon and Terry Anderson, vocalists.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Marvin Winland of Laurelville, was escorted to the altar by her father, Pearl Lehman of South Bloomingville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Young of Laurelville.

The bride selected for her wedding a floor length gown fashioned of rosepointe lace over silk peau. The empire bodice was defined with a satin ribbon and bow with long lace sleeves coming to points over her hands. Seed pearls trimmed the scalloped neckline.

A lace panel train fell from the shoulders sweeping over the semi sheath skirt into chapel length. A half hat of lace loops caught with pearls and sprinkled with crystals and edged in rhinestones matched the lace of the gown and held her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white baby mums and stephanotis centered with a single white orchid.

Mrs. Marvin Sharp, niece of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a green glow floor length silk chiffon gown featuring long faille silk illusion sleeves and empire waistline encircled.

Sertoma Club Has Halloween Costume Party

Circleville Sertoma Club's Halloween party was held Sunday in the Jaycee Club room. The room was decorated with orange and black streamers, paper skeletons and black cats were hung on the walls. One corner of the room held a corn shock surrounded with pumpkins and gourds.

The Sertoma members and their wives were all dressed in costumes, with prizes for the best dressed awarded to Robert Holyeross, Joe Smith, Mary Jane Skinner, Dave Sealock, Helen Wells and Ward Skinner.

Many games were played with one in particular causing great confusion and sore knees according to one of the wives present. This contest was having the men take off their shoes and put them in a pile, the wives with blindfolds on tried to find their husbands shoes and put them on.

Another contest was passing a grapefruit from neck to neck in mixed teams. A game that probably caused the most fun was having everyone blindfolded and given a sack containing a charged marshmallow, which they had to feed to their partners before they could remove the covers from their eyes and see what they had done.

Humphrey Tours In Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey took an architectural tour in the hot Malaysian sun today, looking at mosques and monuments and a Parliament tower he liked so much that he said: "I hope my government officers see that because they believe in building squares."

Humphrey, here for three days on a swing through Southeast Asia, guided his tour off its itinerary to go inside the modern, 18-story tower. He sat down in the Parliament speaker's chair, praised the acoustics, and wished they could be as good in some Washington buildings.

Asked how the chair compared with the one he uses when presiding over the U.S. Senate, Humphrey laughed: "Mine is more wobbly in more ways than one."

Western Electric Co., spread into New Mexico, Arizona, Texas and Utah. A spokesman for the Communications Workers of America, Local 8490, said before the overtime assignment dispute is settled, all 900 of the local's members may be on strike in the seven states where Mountain States Telephone Co. operates.

Meanwhile, negotiations continued at Detroit with Chrysler Corp., the UAW's No. 2 target in contract talks with the automotive big three.

Limited operations were resumed at the Sterling (Ill.) Community Hospital with volunteers filling in while a labor dispute with the hospital's 139-member nursing staff still simmered. The hospital had been virtually shut down since Oct. 7. The nurses resigned last week rather than accept a court-injunction that enjoined them to end the walkout over salary demands.

Solon Raps 'Paying Off' Militants

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Houston antipoverty worker credits the hiring of Negro militants under a federally financed program with heading off a racial crisis in the Texas city last summer.

But the chairman of a Senate panel probing U.S. riots suggested such a move amounted to "paying off" dissatisfied Negroes just to obey the law.

The exchange came Wednesday as the Senate investigations subcommittee continued its Senate-ordered probe of the causes of Negro riots.

Samuel L. Price, a Negro and a deputy director of the Harris County Community Action Association, told the panel that the program—called Project Go—and paid for with $600,000 in federal funds—was organized in the month after a riot at Texas Southern University in Houston. Officials from Texas Southern were to testify today.

Among those hired, said Price, were two men under indictment for the slaying of a policeman during the May 16 uprising at the state's largest Negro university.

The cage back fell in folds to the hemline. Matching sheer blossoms and leaves sprinkled with silver glitter held her tiered pouf veil.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kay Meenach, Miss Carol West and Miss Sharon DeLong, close friends of the bride. Their gowns and veils were identical to the honor attendant's. Each carried a bouquet of gold pom-pom chrysanthemums and fall colored leaves.

Miss Tami Young, wearing a sun gold gown similar to that of the attendants, was flower girl. She carried a basket of fall colored leaves.

Master Scott Young was ring bearer. Best man was Roger Young, brother of the groom, and ushers were Mick Unger, Jim Lechrone and Michael Kneec.

Mrs. Winland chose for her daughter's wedding a grape colored three-piece knit suit. A small hat in matching shades of grape and matching accessories completed her outfit. Mrs. Young wore a brown three-piece knit suit with matching hat and accessories. Each wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. The four tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom figurine, was wreathed with huckleberry foliage. Greenery and white pompons encircled the punch bowl.

Hostesses were Mrs. Pat Bethel, sister of the bride; Mrs. Roger Young, sister-in-law of the groom; Mrs. Claude Church, Miss Carolyn Pontious, Miss Judy Graves and Miss Varalyn Jinks. Miss Sharon Grunden presided at the guest book.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride was wearing a brown coat-dress ensemble with matching accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Young are graduates of Laurelville High School and are employed at E. I. DuPont Co. of Circleville.

On Thursday evening before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Young were hosts at the rehearsal dinner held at the Holiday Inn in Lancaster.

7 Luci's Infant In Social Debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 4-month-old grandson has made a midnight debut into White House society. Wearing blue pajamas and a slightly bored expression, little Patrick Lyndon Nugent was proudly carried down the long red carpeted main hallway by his grandfather Wednesday night and introduced to late-staying guests at a formal state dinner given in honor of the king and queen of Nepal.

The President held his grandson aloft, then nibbled the baby's ear as the Marine band's pianist played Brahms' lullaby.

The king and queen had already departed for their guest quarters across the street at Blair House and missed the President's impromptu presentation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The mighty grizzly—"the bear that walks like a man"—was the subject Wednesday night of this season's first special program made with cooperation by the National Geographic Society.

The 60-minute CBS program was an account of the work of twins, ecologists Frank and John Craighead who for the past eight years have been studying the bears in Yellowstone National Park.

Big, fast and fierce, the grizzly is among the animals facing extermination, with only about 1,000 remaining in the country. The Craighead brothers have been busily tracking, capturing, tranquilizing, studying and tagging them—highly hazardous work as was evident from their film work.

Portions of the program showing the animals and particularly the film showing the scientists at work with the bears were interesting. Sometimes they had to race through the job of measuring skulls, making casts of teeth and paws so they could scurry away when the anesthetics suddenly wore off and the bears lunged back into angry activity.

The producers, however, seemed unable to decide whether they were starring the bears or the brothers—or perhaps there was just not enough film about the grizzly to fill the hour. So they showed the home life of the scientists and showed them working in other areas—studying the habits of birds of prey, for example. Jack Benny and his violin starred on NBC's "Music Hall" later in the evening, but it was certainly not Benny's finest hour. He was, of course, in his usual character, but that works best when he does not have much interference.

Jack was great giving a dead pan demonstration on the difference between a ordinary fiddle and his Stradivarius. But Benny playing along with Liberace and dressed in a sequin jacket was something less than amusing.

Broadcasts of feature movies are beginning to slip in the ratings. The most recent Nielsen ratings, released Wednesday, show that only two movies made the top list for the week of Oct. 16-22. In previous weeks, four or five have regularly made the grade.

This indicates, not that movies are losing favor with audiences, but that the networks have put their best crowd-catcher into the schedules early and are now beginning to use run-of-the-mill features.

Most popular programs of the period, according to the Nielsen estimates, were CBS's "Lucy Show," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Gomer Pyle and 'Andy Griffith Show,'" ABC's "Be- witched," CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show" and "Gunsmoke," NBC's "Dean Martin Show" and its Saturday and Tuesday night movies.

No new series made the top 10 and ABC's "Flying Nun," in 16th place, was the only freshman show to appear in the top 20.

Church Urges Social Work

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church says its urban presbyteries should take on as their own "the struggle for racial justice."

"Metropolitan presbyteries must be prepared to suffer the strains of controversy as they support Negroes in achieving full participation in democratic political and economic structures," the church headquarters here, said.

Luci's Infant In Social Debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 4-month-old grandson has made a midnight debut into White House society. Wearing blue pajamas and a slightly bored expression, little Patrick Lyndon Nugent was proudly carried down the long red carpeted main hallway by his grandfather Wednesday night and introduced to late-staying guests at a formal state dinner given in honor of the king and queen of Nepal.

The President held his grandson aloft, then nibbled the baby's ear as the Marine band's pianist played Brahms' lullaby.

The king and queen had already departed for their guest quarters across the street at Blair House and missed the President's impromptu presentation.

is a triumph of bravura style over bombastic substance.

The Nobel Prize dramatist thought he had destroyed it along with several other unfinished works several years before his death. But one copy escaped the editorial bonfire and has gone through several permutations since.

The O'Neill estate permitted one adaptation to be done in Sweden in 1963, of small acclaim. Revised further, that version is a still different extract from the source, prepared by Jose Quintero.

Having staged seven other O'Neill works, Quintero ranks as the author's chief contemporary interpreter. But in trying to shape a lengthy, unclear work-in-progress into a viable theatrical experience, the director has been unable to escape a morass of philosophical platitudes and awkward plotting.

formly brilliant. Miss Bergman radiates her particular Scandinavian charm as the mother. Colleen Dewhurst is equally persuasive with shadow brogue and lusty vigor.

As a brisk merchant who wavers between wanting both or neither, Arthur Hill manages difficult challenge with considerable credibility.

In addition to the focal three, Fred Stewart, Lawrence Linville and Kermit Murdock fashion impressive vignettes.

The multiple settings by Ben Edwards are darkly appropriate, lighted with reverential glow by John Harvey. Jane Greenwood costumes Miss Bergman and Miss Dewhurst in the requisite flowing period robes.

One of the most eagerly awaited events of the season,

"More Stately Mansions" has been generating boxoffice enthusiasm for weeks. Now that it is here, with Miss Bergman as chief magnet, ardor isn't likely to be dampened by its limited dramatic quality.

is a triumph of bravura style over bombastic substance.

The Nobel Prize dramatist thought he had destroyed it along with several other un- finished works several years be- fore his death. But one copy escaped the editorial bonfire and has gone through several per- mutations since.

The O'Neill estate permitted one adaptation to be done in Sweden in 1963, of small ac- claim. Revised further, that ver- sion is a still different extract from the source, prepared by Jose Quintero.

Having staged seven other O'Neill works, Quintero ranks as the author's chief contem- porary interpreter. But in try- ing to shape a lengthy, unclear work-in-progress into a viable theatrical experience, the direc- tor has been unable to escape a morass of philosophical platitudes and awkward plotting.

Soviet Fishing Fleet Out-Catches U.S. Ships

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
Assistant to the Editor
New Bedford (Mass.)
Standard Times
Written for
The Associated Press
NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)
— A streamlined and efficient Soviet trawler fleet now outfishes U.S. rivals off the New England coast.
Huge Soviet hauls from Georges Bank have raised fears that the area is being overexploited. There are demands from the American fishing industry for sharply increased spending on fisheries research.

Georges Bank, 8,500 miles square, is a main habitat of the haddock, the fish species most valuable to the United States.
In 1965 the Soviets caught 82,000 metric tons of haddock in this area, the United States only 55,000. The total catch by all nations which fish the bank was the greatest ever, but the U.S. catch was about average for the past two decades.

Within 10 years, the Russians have overtaken U.S. fish production; doubled their catch to more than 5 million tons in 1965; acquired an 18,000-vessel fleet, and now propose to add 1,500 new vessels during the next five years.
By contrast, the total U.S. catch has remained static, slightly below three million tons, and Harold E. Crowher, director of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, estimates that 90 per cent of the American fleet, 12,000 vessels over five net tons, ought to be replaced because of age. At present, there are about 60 Soviet vessels on Georges Bank; during 1962-63, there were 300-400; the Russian trend is to produce more poundage with fewer and more modern ships.

The Soviet fishing operation is sophisticated. Medium trawlers—125 feet—with bottom-tending or midwater fishing trawls—their midwater fishing capability is generally superior to Americans—unload their catches on nearby processing and refrigerated transport vessels.
Large refrigerated trawlers, 190 to 230 feet, have canning and fish meal plants; these vessels are used as catcher or scout ships and have homing beacons to direct fleets of vessels to the fishing areas.
Soviet ships operate as a fleet, constantly exchanging information by radio; exploratory vessels find the fish, and notify the fleet. Most Soviet vessels have been built since 1950.
By contrast, Americans send to Georges Bank a vessel of from 80 to 125 feet; more often wood than steel and more likely built before 1950 than since, with a crew of from 8 to 16, and capable of bottom trawling only. It cannot freeze or process; it can only catch and ice fresh fish, and after five or six days on the grounds, must make the 100 plus mile run back to port. Fish capacity may total 200,000 pounds, but usually, catches per trip are considerably less than half of this.

The greatly intensified Soviet effort in the northwest Atlantic has raised a serious question of over exploitation. In an unprecedented move, U.S. and Russian scientists afloat are examining this fishery resource cooperatively. Ashore, U.S. and Russian spokesmen are trying to work out an Atlantic fish conservation agreement patterned after a similar, successful West Coast arrangement between the two nations. Washington officials are hopeful, believing the Russians want to preserve both the resource and a world image as a responsible fishing nation.
But conservation won't help American fishermen compete with foreign fish imports. Only 1 per cent of Russia's catch is exported to the United States, but this is expected to increase. Seventy per cent of Canada's catch is shipped to the United States.
The United States is now spending $28 million annually on fisheries research. Based on last year's U.S. catch value of $2 billion, authorities believe the United States should be spending $160 million a year in this category. They suggest a 10-year program thus financed would aim at: designing new, versatile vessels, heavily automated, to cut production cost; producing gear to find fish faster, and catch them more quickly with less manpower—youth is not coming into the industry—and developing equipment for automatic separation of species, containerized storage, quick unloading and highly automated processing plants.
At present, scientists and economists suggest, the industry is hamstrung by tradition, fragmented by geography and diversity of interest, and crippled by feast-and-famine production cycles because the United States spends too much time looking for fish and too little time catching them.

Dear Abby: Home Decor Not Son's Choice

DEAR ABBY: After 18 years, my husband and I are finally building our dream house. Our problem is our 14-year-old son, Clyde. He thinks we should decorate it according to HIS taste instead of our own.

My husband and I like Early American, but Clyde likes modern. We compromised and decorated his bedroom in modern, but he isn't satisfied. He wants us to decorate the family room in modern, too. Clyde says if we do it in our "square" Early American style he will not bring any of his friends over. We want him to have his friends over, but we've worked hard for this lovely new home, and think we should be able to decorate it the way we want to. Your opinion would be greatly appreciated.

TROUBLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: It's one thing for a 14-year-old to express a preference in decor, but for him to threaten his parents with refusing to bring his friends home unless he gets his own way, I think is a bit much. Do the family room in Early American, and I'll bet Clyde will overlook the "squareness" and come 'round with his friends.

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years and this is the first time I have ever felt compelled to write and protest one of your answers. It's in regard to "CONCERNED AND FURIOUS," who was upset over a neighbor's allowing her pre-school children to play in the nude in the back yard in full view of the public.

Abby, what "public?" Busy-bodies who have nothing more important to do than watch their neighbors? They should be concerned for their own dirty minds. And you, Dear Abby, should be ashamed for advising them to "call the police, who will inform those neighbors in question of the risks involved with nudity of small children."

But perhaps with people like you, thinking everything has a dirty meaning, yes, maybe those children ARE in danger.
Try cleaning up your own thoughts before you censor the thoughts of others.

ALSO FURIOUS
DEAR ALSO: Hold it! I see nothing "dirty" about nudity in children. Nor would I have objections to children playing in a fenced-in area — away from public view, or where their mother could keep her eye on them. But there ARE risks in allowing nude children to play in full view of the public and in an area not fenced-in. True, no healthy-minded person would look twice at a naked child, but how about the offchance that some mentally deranged person might wander by and become aroused at such a sight?

If you doubt that this can happen, check with a homicide squad. They have on file records too hideous to describe here of crimes perpetrated on such children.

DEAR ABBY: When all a lady could find in the way of shoes were those pointed toes with narrow high heels, you had a letter of protest in your column.

Today, the sensible shoes are back, thank heavens, but look what has happened to the dresses. Let's be honest. No one over 22 years of age looks good in a mini-skirt. Don't say, "The men like them," because their reasons for defending mini-skirts are obviously selfish.

Lest you think I am being defensive, I am a 52-year-old grandmother and still wear a size 12.

I am not opposed to young people having their fads in dress, but they don't have to take over the entire fashion world. It's unfair and ridiculous! The only good thing I can say about the new clothes is they're saving me money, for I refuse to buy the "garbage" being shown today.

Student Protests Sweep U.S. Colleges

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

Issues ranging from the campus presence of CIA recruiters to the bulldozing of a favorite lounging lawn prompted student protests Wednesday at various colleges around the nation.

There were also expressions of support for open recruiting at Columbia University and a vote by University of Texas students against an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam.

Central Intelligence Agency men were recruiting at Stanford University when 75 to 100 students climbed a fire escape to an alcove over the conference room and began yelling and stamping.

More than 100 students were charged with disturbing the peace at the University of Iowa when a demonstration against the presence of a Marine Corps recruiter touched off a kicking, shoving melee.

No injuries were reported but campus police called on some 50 city police to help make the arrests. The demonstration was staged by the Students for a Democratic Society.

About 300 University of Michigan students in Ann Arbor staged a sit-in at the administration building to protest the school's involvement in a $1 million counterinsurgency project in Thailand.

The school newspaper disclosed recently that the school had the contract. The demonstrators called for an end to the Thailand project and creation of a faculty-student committee to review university research policy.

At City College in New York 49 students were arrested as they sat in muddy ditches dug for the foundations of a building they say encroaches on a favorite student lounging lawn.

The demonstration by some 400 students was the second in three weeks over the issue. More than 80 policemen forced a circle and locked arms to protect the construction crew at the site.

A few blocks to the south of Manhattan's West Side, students at Columbia College and the university's School of Engineering were voting strongly in favor of open recruiting by any organization.

With more than two-thirds of the 2,175-member undergraduate student body voting, the tally showed 67.6 per cent said they did not object to any governmental or private employer interviewing seniors.

"Although many students feel that the war in Vietnam is wrong, people do not feel that suppression of certain types of speech is a suitable means of protest," commented Eden Weinmann, president of the sophomore class.

A majority of University of Texas students voting in a campus election expressed themselves as against an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

Approximately 20 per cent of the university's 29,841 students cast ballots with 1,724 for halting the war and 2,916 against. Another 387 said they were uncertain.

House Demos Set Up Own Fund Campaign

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capping years of behind-the-scenes friction, House Democrats have decided to sever major financial ties with the Democratic National Committee and set up a separate committee to solicit funds for 1968 congressional elections.

This means Democrats will mount two separate national fund-raising drives for next year's elections—one to finance

President Johnson's expected re-election bid and the other in behalf of congressional candidates.

The new group, to be known as the Democratic Congressional Finance Committee, will operate year-round and seek funds nationwide, especially from individuals and groups with what one source called "a peculiar interest" in Congress.

The decision to establish the new committee, The Associated Press learned, was made last month in a closed meeting of the House Democratic Campaign Committee and discussed in a later session with national committee officials.

Although some congressmen reportedly plan to shun identification with Johnson in next year's campaign, officials of the White House-controlled national committee denied the new development indicates deteriorating relations between Capitol

Hill and the White House.

"It just indicates a fact of life," said John Criswell, the national committee's acting treasurer. "The House Democrats need to be better financed and this is just a way to do it."

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey said the decision of House Democrats means only that "they decided they would raise their own money."

About eight years ago, the national committee and the House and Senate campaign committees agreed the national committee would handle all fund-raising.

Under the arrangement, the national committee was to supply each congressional committee with $10,000 a month operating cash, plus lump sum payments totaling more than a half-million dollars a year to be distributed to candidates.

But some congressmen grumbled that the promised aid failed to materialize fully. This, one said, "left a lot of people on the Hill unhappy."

National committee officials were in turn irked by the way the congressional committees divided funds among the candidates. "They were taking care of their friends," one official said of congressional leaders.

The financial arrangement was partially breached last May when House and Senate Democrats joined in staging a $250-a-plate dinner in Washington. The two committees split the $700,000 raised at the dinner.

Indict Men For Murder In Hippie Pad

NEW YORK (AP) — Indictments charging murder and rape have been filed against two men in the deaths of an 18-year-old girl, member of a rich Greenwich, Conn., family, and her hippie boy friend during an LSD party in the East Village.

The Manhattan grand jury indictments were handed up Wednesday against Donald Ramsey and Thomas Dennis, 26-year-old Negroes.

The victims, both white, were Linda Fitzpatrick and James Hutchinson, 21, who was known as "Groovy" in the East Village hippie area where he was a chieftain of sorts.

In addition to the murder charges, Ramsey and Dennis are accused of raping Miss Fitzpatrick. The two men have been held without bail since their arrest shortly after the bludgeoned bodies of Miss Fitzpatrick and Hutchinson were found in a tenement house basement Oct. 8 by Fred Wright, 31, assistant superintendent of the building.

A separate indictment handed up Wednesday charged Wright and Ramsey with raping a 22-year-old woman in the same building just before the murders. Wright has been held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Snow Sweeps Over Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow swept over the Rockies and into the northern and central plains today while widespread rain and fog covered most of the country east of the Mississippi.

Hazardous-driving warnings were in effect for portions of northeastern Wyoming and the Nebraska Panhandle. Locally heavy snows were expected along the eastern slopes of the Wyoming mountains.

Five inches of snow blanketed Lewistown, in central Montana, and four inches covered the Lander, Wyo., area. One-inch accumulations were common in the northern reaches of the northern plains during the night.

GM Divisions

Under New Group

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. operations in two Ohio cities — Dayton and Warren — will be placed under a new group in a division reorganization announced Wednesday by the giant corporation.

Delco Moraine, Inland Manufacturing and Packard Electric Divisions, formerly part of the Dayton, Household Appliance and Engine Group, will be transferred to the Automotive Components Group. Delco Moraine and Inland Manufacturing are at Dayton and Packard Electric at Warren.

MOTHER NATURE IN A RAGE—Fire fighters toil along the Pacific Coast Highway at Malibu, Calif., where one of many brush fires rages, and in Gulfport, Miss., a man makes his way through tornado rubble. The coast fires have destroyed more than three-score homes. The spate of tornadoes killed three persons and injured some 200 along the Gulf Coast.

No Star Witness At Hoffa Probe

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury has begun probing into the legal maneuverings of James R. Hoffa, apparently without hearing an expected star witness who says she has been marked for death.

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, who was taken away from a local hospital by federal marshals earlier in the day, apparently did not appear before the grand jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Francis, former secretary for Teamsters Union Local 515 here, had been expected to testify before the panel about threats she said she received in connection with testimony she gave at a trial connected with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

However, Mrs. Francis, who was hospitalized with a gunshot wound suffered last week, was not seen entering the jury room, and the Chattanooga Times reported that she probably will not be called to testify.

Mrs. Francis was whisked away from the hospital a few hours after she was involved in an unsuccessful attempt by police to trap a man she said had offered to kill anyone she wanted.

A federal officer attempted to arrest the man, but he escaped after at least one shot was fired.

Mrs. Francis says she is marked for death because of testimony she gave which was adverse to Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president.

At least one witness, Knoxville garage operator W. "Buster" Keys, was called before the grand jury Wednesday. Keys reportedly did some work on an automobile belonging to Benjamin David Nichols who gave an affidavit in a Hoffa new trial motion, alleging the government used wiretapping to secure Hoffa's jury tampering conviction here in 1964.

Youth Is Held In Toledo Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police were holding Wednesday a 16-year-old youth for investigation following the death of Murray Hicks, 13, Toledo.

Authorities said the unidentified teen-ager and Hicks apparently were involved in an argument a week ago. Hicks went to a hospital and later died of a skull injury.

House Demos Set Up Own Fund Campaign

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caping years of behind-the-scenes friction, House Democrats have decided to sever major financial ties with the Democratic National Committee and set up a separate committee to solicit funds for 1968 congressional elections.

This means Democrats will mount two separate national fund-raising drives for next year's elections—one to finance

President Johnson's expected re-election bid and the other in behalf of congressional candidates.

The new group, to be known as the Democratic Congressional Finance Committee, will operate year-round and seek funds nationwide, especially from individuals and groups with what one source called "a peculiar interest" in Congress.

The decision to establish the new committee, The Associated Press learned, was made last month in a closed meeting of the House Democratic Campaign Committee and discussed in a later session with national committee officials.

Although some congressmen reportedly plan to shun identification with Johnson in next year's campaign, officials of the White House-controlled national committee denied the new development indicates deteriorating relations between Capitol

Hill and the White House.

"It just indicates a fact of life," said John Criswell, the national committee's acting treasurer. "The House Democrats need to be better financed and this is just a way to do it."

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey said the decision of House Democrats means only that "they decided they would raise their own money."

About eight years ago, the national committee and the House and Senate campaign committees agreed the national committee would handle all fund-raising.

Under the arrangement, the national committee was to supply each congressional committee with $10,000 a month operating cash, plus lump sum payments totaling more than a half-million dollars a year to be distributed to candidates.

But some congressmen grumbled that the promised aid failed to materialize fully. This, one said, "left a lot of people on the Hill unhappy."

National committee officials were in turn irked by the way the congressional committees divided funds among the candidates. "They were taking care of their friends," one official said of congressional leaders.

The financial arrangement was partially breached last May when House and Senate Democrats joined in staging a $250-a-plate dinner in Washington. The two committees split the $700,000 raised at the dinner.

Indict Men For Murder In Hippy Pad

NEW YORK (AP) — Indictments charging murder and rape have been filed against two men in the deaths of an 18-year-old girl, member of a rich Greenwich, Conn., family, and her hippie boyfriend during an LSD party in the East Village.

The Manhattan grand jury indictments were handed up Wednesday against Donald Ramsey and Thomas Dennis, 26-year-old Negroes.

The victims, both white, were Linda Fitzpatrick and James Hutchinson, 21, who was known as "Groovy" in the East Village hippie area where he was a chief of sorts.

In addition to the murder charges, Ramsey and Dennis are accused of raping Miss Fitzpatrick. The two men have been held without bail since their arrest shortly after the bludgeoned bodies of Miss Fitzpatrick and Hutchinson were found in a tenement house basement Oct. 8 by Fred Wright, 31, assistant superintendent of the building.

A separate indictment handed up Wednesday charged Wright and Ramsey with raping a 22-year-old woman in the same building just before the murders. Wright has been held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Snow Sweeps Over Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow swept over the Rockies and into the northern and central plains today while widespread rain and fog covered most of the country east of the Mississippi.

Hazardous-driving warnings were in effect for portions of northeastern Wyoming and the Nebraska Panhandle. Locally heavy snows were expected along the eastern slopes of the Wyoming mountains.

Five inches of snow blanketed Lewistown, in central Montana, and four inches covered the Lander, Wyo., area. One-inch accumulations were common in the western reaches of the northern plains during the night.

GM Divisions Under New Group

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. operations in two Ohio cities — Dayton and Warren — will be placed under a new group in a division reorganization announced Wednesday by the giant corporation.

Delco Moraine, Inland Manufacturing and Packard Electric Divisions, formerly part of the Dayton, Household Appliance and Engine Group, will be transferred to the Automotive Components Group. Delco Moraine and Inland Manufacturing are at Dayton and Packard Electric at Warren.

No Star Witness At Hoffa Probe

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury has begun probing into the legal maneuverings of James R. Hoffa, apparently without hearing an expected star witness who says she has been marked for death.

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, who was taken away from a local hospital by federal marshals earlier in the day, apparently did not appear before the grand jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Francis, former secretary for Teamsters Union Local 515 here, had been expected to testify before the panel about threats she said she received in connection with testimony she gave at a trial connected with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

However, Mrs. Francis, who was hospitalized with a gunshot wound suffered last week, was not seen entering the jury room, and the Chattanooga Times reported that she probably will not be called to testify.

Mrs. Francis was whisked away from her hospital a few hours after she was involved in an unsuccessful attempt by police to trap a man she said had offered to kill anyone she wanted.

A federal officer attempted to arrest the man, but he escaped after at least one shot was fired.

Mrs. Francis says she is marked for death because of testimony she gave which was adverse to Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president.

At least one witness, Knoxville garage operator W. "Buster" Keys, was called before the grand jury Wednesday. Keys reportedly did some work on an automobile belonging to Benjamin David Nichols who gave an affidavit in a Hoffa new trial motion, alleging the government used wiretapping to secure Hoffa's jury tampering conviction here in 1964.

Youth Is Held In Toledo Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police were holding Wednesday a 16-year-old youth for investigation following the death of Murray Hicks, 13, Toledo.

Authorities said the unidentified teen-ager and Hicks apparently were involved in an argument a week ago. Hicks went to a hospital and later died of a skull injury.

Circleville Seeks 16th Straight Win at Franklin Heights Friday

Circleville High School football Tigers take to the road for the third consecutive week Friday when they travel to Franklin Heights.

The Red and Black will be seeking their 16th straight victory at the Falcon's nest.

One of the worst defeats a Circleville team coached by Paul Starr ever had came two years ago at the same playing site. The Red and Black lost that game, 32-7.

Several of this year's seniors played in that game, including Bob Tootle, who started at quarterback; Tom Wright and Steve Dade.

COACH Starr had a chance to personally scout the Falcons when they played and defeated Whitehall last Thursday. And what he saw didn't make him rest easy.

The CHS mentor describes the Falcons as a young team with good size that has improved a great deal since the beginning of the year.

Key backfield personnel for the Franklin Heights include veteran quarterback Don Landis and halfbacks Don and Harold Glover.

The Falcons operate from a straight stick 'T' formation and a pro slot. They like to throw the ball.

They use some unorthodox defensive formations including a 4-4.

The Falcons and Circleville have played common opponents. Pleasant View defeated Franklin Heights, 27-20, and lost to Circleville 21-0. Teays Valley lost to Franklin Heights, 24-7, and to Circleville, 27-6. Washington C. H. defeated Franklin Heights, 28-14, and lost to Circleville, 26-7.

ON the basis of comparative scores, Circleville should win. But Franklin Heights has the home field "advantage" and has improved consistently during the season.

Falcon Coach Bob LeBeau has been pointing toward the

The Cornhuskers, the fourth pacesetter in the past six weeks, have yielded an average of 155.3 passing-rushing yardage in six games. Georgia is second with an average yield of 158.2 yards followed by Tulsa, last week's leader, with 169.0.

Syracuse has compiled the best defense against rushing, a mere 46.5 yard average for six games. Georgia has put together the best defense against forward passes, a 63-yard average for six games.

Circleville is healthy this week, according to Starr. Only Danny Smith, who ran wild against Hillsboro last week, is a doubtful starter for Friday's tilt.

The Tigers have been practicing outside every night this week. "I just hope they've been having blackboard drill while we are hitting," Starr said today.

No changes are planned for the Tiger starting alignment. That means that Eddie Wells, Tom Wright, Steve Dade and Bob Tootle will be in the backfield. Along the line it will be Dick Thornton, Steve Carroll, Jim Samuel, Craig Lambert, Rod Sines, Jim Campbell and George Hill. Ends Bob Dean and Phil Diehl could crack that starting offensive 11.

On defense, it will be Jerry Myers, Lambert, Don Cordle, Dean, Sines, Samuel, Bill Gates, Rick Sims, Wright, Dade, Lynn Heath and Campbell.

WITH the league season behind, the Tiger coaching staff is now shooting for a perfect record.

"We can't let up now," the coaches say.

Elsewhere around the league Friday, Washington C. H. is at Pleasant View, Miami Trace at Hamilton Twp., Hillsboro at Portsmouth, Greenfield McClain at Whitehall while Wilmington hosts Dayton Stivers.

Browns, Steelers To Clash Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns still don't know who Sunday's quarterback will be, but they aren't the only ones.

Bill Austin, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, also is pondering which passer to use in the Browns-Steelers game at Pittsburgh.

Veteran quarterback Bill Nelsen of the Steelers was injured Sept. 24, and rookie Kent Mix performed so well on occasion that it looked as though he might have won the job away from Nelsen.

But last Sunday the Steelers bogged down against the New Orleans Saints, and it was Nelsen — now recovered from his knee injury — who went in in the final period and brought them from behind to win.

Nelsen hit on five of six passes in scoring drives that covered 81 and 70 yards.

The way Nelsen took over was described by running back Don Shy, who scored the winning touchdown on a 33-yard run.

"Man, he was cool, cool, cool

in the huddle," said Shy. "We were losing by 10 points but he didn't get excited."

"Bill ran the team like he knew all along we were going to win."

Nelsen said his only concern was that Austin wouldn't call on him — or not send him in soon enough.

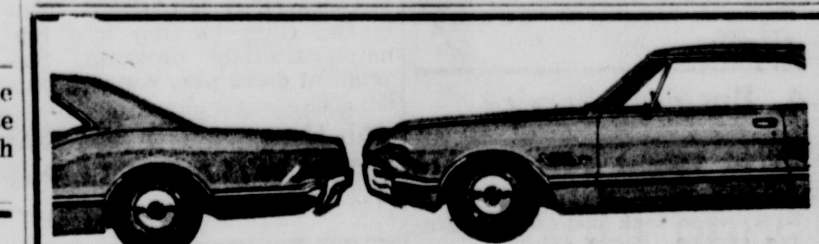

As for next Sunday, Austin isn't saying anything yet. "The job still is up for grabs," he remarked Wednesday night. "I don't know that we wouldn't have won if we stayed with him."

"Still, it's good to win no matter how you do it."

Hawaiian Open Gets Under Way

HONOLULU (AP) — Gay Brewer carried pro-amateur honors into today's start of the $100,000 Hawaiian Open golf tournament at his favorite course.

Brewer carded a 69 that included a 32 on the back nine Wednesday of the 7,000-yard, par-72 Waialae course. He won the first Hawaiian Open over the course in 1965 and last year tied with Billy Casper for second place.

Arnold Palmer, one of the favorites with Brewer and Casper, piled up a 79 in the pro am, including a flubbed sand trap shot. But no one was counting him out when the bell rings today.

Casper had 71 in the pro am, as did defending champion Ted Makalena of Hawaii.

Top score for the day, with a handful of the players out, was 67 by Tommy Aaron, the slender, bespectacled Georgian who has a history of leading golf tournaments in the early rounds but seldom on Sunday.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised live to the mainland and England via satellite. Plans to televise live to Japan have been switched to a delayed tape showing.

Browns, Steelers To Clash Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns still don't know who Sunday's quarterback will be, but they aren't the only ones.

Bill Austin, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, also is pondering which passer to use in the Browns-Steelers game at Pittsburgh.

Veteran quarterback Bill Nelsen of the Steelers was injured Sept. 24, and rookie Kent Mix performed so well on occasion that it looked as though he might have won the job away from Nelsen.

But last Sunday the Steelers bogged down against the New Orleans Saints, and it was Nelsen — now recovered from his knee injury — who went in in the final period and brought them from behind to win.

Nelsen hit on five of six passes in scoring drives that covered 81 and 70 yards.

The way Nelsen took over was described by running back Don Shy, who scored the winning touchdown on a 33-yard run.

"Man, he was cool, cool, cool

in the huddle," said Shy. "We were losing by 10 points but he didn't get excited."

"Bill ran the team like he knew all along we were going to win."

Nelsen said his only concern was that Austin wouldn't call on him — or not send him in soon enough.

As for next Sunday, Austin isn't saying anything yet. "The job still is up for grabs," he remarked Wednesday night. "I don't know that we wouldn't have won if we stayed with him."

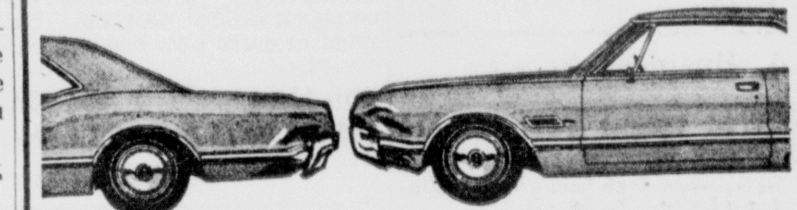

"Still, it's good to win no matter how you do it."

At Circleville, Head Coach Chuck Hill announced that 19 hopefuls reported for cage practice. He anticipates that another half-a-dozen or more will report after the football season ends.

Nebraska Tops In Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Nebraska is the latest to lead the nation's major-college football teams in total defense, it was disclosed today with the release of the defensive statistics.

The Cornhuskers, the fourth pacesetter in the past six weeks, have yielded an average of 155.3 passing-rushing yardage in six games. Georgia is second with an average yield of 158.2 yards followed by Tulsa, last week's leader, with 169.0.

Syracuse has compiled the best defense against rushing, a mere 46.5 yard average for six games. Georgia has put together the best defense against forward passes, a 63-yard average for six games.

The University of Texas at El Paso shows the best punting mark, 44.1 yards encompassing 33 punts in five games. Houston and Louisiana State are tied for second with 43.8.

Oklahoma has been the toughest to score against, according to the figures compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services. The Sooners' five opponents have scored only 16 points for a 3.2 average.

Name Clem Daniels Player of Week

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The latest honor for Clem Daniels, the Oakland Raiders' versatile halfback, is American Football League Offensive Player of the Week for his performance in Sunday's 51-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

In the same game Clem became the first AFL player to reach a career rushing mark of 5,000, surpassing the Chargers' Paul Lowe, who now has 4,947.

The Teays Valley High School football banquet will be held 6:30 p. m. Saturday at the High School. It is a carry-in fete.

'Dear Brutus' Wins High Jump

NEW YORK (AP) — "He hung in the air. I thought he was coming down and then he lifted up, and over I went."

That's how Russ Stewart described the National Horse Show high jumping record today.

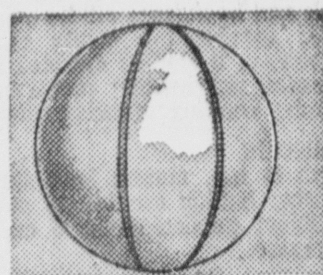

With a crowd of about 7,000 on hand in Madison Square Garden, Dear Brutus, a brute of a high jumper, captured the Puissance (high jumping) Wednesday night in the open jumper test in the National.

Only last year, Dear Brutus cleared 7-1 to tie the National's high jumping mark.

MAC Title Fight Becomes New Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Mid-American Conference football race became a four-way chase Wednesday after Kent State University disclosed it had used an ineligible player in its only two victories.

MAC Commissioner Bob James ordered Kent to forfeit its conference victory over Ohio University. He took no action regarding Kent's triumph over Northern Illinois because that game was a non-conference affair.

James declared Ohio the winner of the Sept. 30 contest by a 1-0 score. The Golden Flashes had posted a 21-14 victory in the regionally telecast contest.

The player in question, junior Ted Chester, an offensive end from Avon Lake, dropped out of school last year after suffering a broken jaw early in the 1966 season. He enrolled again later.

His ineligibility was discovered during a routine check by the university's office of admissions and records. Chester had only 32 credit hours last year instead of the required 36.

Chester played the entire game against Ohio and scored a touchdown.

"No one likes to do this but we had to make the decision," James said.

There is no record of a forfeiture in football in the conference.

The league rules and regulations concerning ineligible players reads:

"The offending team shall forfeit all games, meets or contests in which the offending player participated."

Kent's 1-4 record in the league now becomes 0-5 while its overall 2-5 mark could either be 1-6 or 0-7 depending on whether Northern Illinois accepts Kent's offer to forfeit a Sept. 23 triumph.

The hot MAC race headed into weekend action with Toledo, Miami and Western Michigan all boasting 4-1 records.

Ohio, which had a 2-2 mark, now finds itself 3-1.

If the Bobcats could whip Western Michigan and Bowling Green in two successive home games, they would finish 5-1 and tie the winner of Saturday's Toledo-Miami clash.

Kent Athletic Director Carl E. Erickson announced the use of an ineligible player and notified conference officials.

The commissioner's office reportedly is miffed at Kent officials because they failed to submit an eligibility list of players by Sept. 9, one week before the start of the season.

Such lists are mandatory and Kent apparently was in the process of preparing one when Chester's ineligibility was uncovered.

Both James and Kent officials emphasized that neither Chester nor members of the coaching staff were aware of the credit hour shortage.

"It's unfortunate. We're dealing with human beings and it was a human error, nothing more," James said.

Ohio, which had a 2-2 mark, now finds itself 3-1.

If the Bobcats could whip Western Michigan and Bowling Green in two successive home games, they would finish 5-1 and tie the winner of Saturday's Toledo-Miami clash.

Kent Athletic Director Carl E. Erickson announced the use of an ineligible player and notified conference officials.

The commissioner's office reportedly is miffed at Kent officials because they failed to submit an eligibility list of players by Sept. 9, one week before the start of the season.

Such lists are mandatory and Kent apparently was in the process of preparing one when Chester's ineligibility was uncovered.

Both James and Kent officials emphasized that neither Chester nor members of the coaching staff were aware of the credit hour shortage.

"It's unfortunate. We're dealing with human beings and it was a human error, nothing more," James said.

Judge Gives Reasons on Cincy Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP)—Chances are that Hamilton County residents won't be able to vote next Tuesday on a proposal to give more authority to county commissioners.

The law cited as authority for the "alternate plan" — under which the commissioners could do anything not specifically forbidden by statute — was declared unconstitutional Wednesday by Common Pleas Judge Mathews' decision — which amounted to an injunction to keep the issue of the already-printed ballots — But there was no indication when the higher court would act.

The commissioners have been operating under a law that allow them to do only such things as they are specifically authorized to do. Judge Mathews' ruling came on the first court test of the 1957 statute that was amended last year to enable the commissioners to assume greater authority.

In his ruling — which dealt mainly with the 1966 amendment — Judge Mathews said the law does not provide any guidelines for the commissioners in exercising their authority.

"As such it is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power because the (state) constitution places the legislative power in the general assembly except as is granted in the constitution," the judge asserted.

Eye Brown Insult

LONDON (AP) — Members of Britain's House of Commons assembled for a foreign policy debate today that was overshadowed in advance by the uproar over Foreign Secretary George Brown's latest outburst.

Brown's blast at a banquet Tuesday night — another in a series of social blunders — was directed at his host Lord Thomson of Fleet.

Apparently referring to a series of articles in Thomson's Sunday Times about Harold Philby, the former foreign office man who spied for the Russians for 30 years, Brown put aside his prepared speech and told Thomson: "It is about time we stopped giving the Russians half a start on what we are doing. It is about time you shut up."

Employees Vote At Middletown

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ten employees of Air Products and Chemicals, Inc., of Middletown, Ohio, will vote in a collective bargaining election Nov. 8, the National Labor Relations Board has announced.

All production and maintenance workers are eligible to decide on representation by Local 91 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.
